Capt. Ritchie, C.A.M.C., is Honored By Sanatorium Staff and Patients

A well-attended whist drive was held at the "Star" on Saturday night last, as a farewell party to Capt. J. B. Ritchie, M.C., who is leaving the institution. The gathering was representative in character, amongst those present being Mr.
Gardner, president of the Blairmore and Crow branches, Mrs. C. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Murray, of the Blairmore, Mr. Charbonneau and Mr. Smith of the Crow, and William Oulivier, members of the R.N.
W.M.E., and many others.

At the close of the "drive," refreshments were served, and the program event of the evening followed in the presentation to Capt. Ritchie of an illustrated address and a microscopical addressed for by the staff and patients as a token of their esteem and appreciation.
The president of the Invalid Soldiers Welfare League, Sergeant J. B. Ritchie, in the course of a few preliminary remarks, stated that it was by no means a felici-tation to provide at a gathering such as this for the purpose of saying farewell to a much-respected officer, friend and comrade, but at the same time, it is a privilege to take part in a function which has not only to say farewell, but to honor to the able officer, a true friend and a devoted comrade. He referred to his parting, medical officer, Capt. Ritchie (exclamation). "Concluding the speaker said that it was a regrettable able, neither was it his place to inquire why or wherefore Capt. Ritchie was leaving them. That he was a like all other officers, and some of them were often unpleasant, this one particularly so to them, but as soldiers they had only to give unqualified obedience, knowing that these things were good, or supposed to be, "in the interests of the service." However, he did not think it was out of his province, or in-regular for him to repeat a few words in honor of the ways of a speech, and that he was hardly necessary for him to say that they were sorry Capt. Ritchie was going, for they were none other than their medical officer, during the months he had been with them had gained their highest respect and esteem.
Although he was the more often referred to as doctor rather than as captain, for the "doctor" "suggested" every thing, particularly to the soldiers amongst them. The doctor in family life was generally more than a mere medical adviser, he was often legal adviser, confidential friend, business adviser, and everything else all rolled into one; and in this family at the "Star" Capt. Ritchie had been all these things to them. At no time had he allowed his rank to come between them as "man to man." He had been the doctor, the friend, the comrade in a true sense of the words, and the officer afterwards.
At the same time he had done his duty as an officer in the manner which a soldier looks for and desires from his superior, and as became the rank he held. By his treatment of them as a friend and comrade, never had the dignity of the rank suffered, but rather it had been enhanced, and gained for it respect. They felt that they could not for Capt. Ritchie without some solid form of their esteem, so they had got together and were presenting him with something he hoped he would accept with their kindest wishes. The speaker asked the Commanding Officer to make the presentation.

Capt. Hunt then rose and read the address, which was as follows:

Invalid Soldiers Welfare League, Military Sanatorium,
Frank, February 28, 1918.
To Capt. J. B. Ritchie, Medical Officer.

Sir: On behalf of the Invalid Soldiers Welfare League, members, both staff and patients of the Sanatorium, it is with the sincerest regret that we have to bid farewell upon your transference to an other sphere of work, but at the same time we congratulate you upon entering upon duties which may be even more exhausting. While we are exceedingly sorry to lose you, both as a medical officer and as comrade and director of this League, we feel that those comrades who will be under your able direction in the future, will be great gains by your loss.

We know that during the months you have been our medical officer that the welfare of all under your care has always been your first thought. We like to think of you only as "Doctor," rather than as "Officer," for the word "Doctor" suggests a true friendship, confidence and share of joy and sorrow. All these you have been to us. As director of our League you took the greatest interest in our social welfare, which, in an institution situated as this is, becomes a most important and difficult problem, the solving of which you did your utmost to achieve.

We all thank you most sincerely for all your kindness and care bestowed upon us as patients, and the true spirit of comradeship as a brother of the League.
Remember us as a brother, doctor and officer, whom we shall always remember with affection and gratitude. Our very best wishes go with you, that all happiness and success may be yours in the future. In bidding you this address we hope that you will keep it as a small token of appreciation from grateful patients, devoted comrades and loyal followers. Signed—

G. D. Hunt, Capt. and O.C.

Capt. Hunt handed the address and microscope to Capt. Ritchie amid applause.

Capt. Ritchie, who, we are sorry to say, had been laid up for some days, and did not only let him to attend this gathering, but thinking of the League for this very handsome token of their goodwill and appreciation, said that he was so completely taken by surprise that he did not know how to express his thanks or his feelings. He had heard that a gathering of friends had been arranged as a farewell party for him, but he had the slightest idea of their doing anything so kind and generous as to present him with such a beautifully illustrated and handsomely got-up address, and a valuable instrument such as has been handed him on this occasion. He did not know who it could have been to whom he had expressed a desire to possess such an instrument; but certainly he had long desired a desire, and to receive it had given him greater pleasure. It would be of the greatest service to him and would be a great boon to the League, and he at Frank. He felt particularly touched and gratified by the way in which Sergeant Ritchie had referred to their thinking him more as doctor than as officer, a reference which was also embodied in the address. He had served for a year in the trenches as a private soldier, and knew all the ins and outs of a private's life, his temptations, their hardships, their troubles and sorrows. He always felt for them, and that was the reason why that if ever he rose to become an officer the private soldiers would be his first thought, and anything he could do to ease their burden and make their life only a little easier and better, would be his aim. "Since becoming an officer we had always tried to carry out that intention, and as M.O. of this institution his wish had always been to be a real friend and a comrade to the boys. He was indeed gratified to find that, judging from that address and the remarks of the sergeant, that his efforts in this way had been appreciated. He was very sorry to leave them, because he was much interested in the work; but he trusted that for a while at least he would not be too far away that he could not now and then see some of them. He again thanked them for their kind and generous gifts.

The boys and friends here struck up "For he's a jolly good fellow," and the National Anthem brought a record event as the "Star" to a close.
The League is greatly indebted to Capt.
Fiddler Niven, of Calgary, for so kindly contributing the business part in collaboration with purchase and testing of the microscope, etc., and to the Matron for her arrangements for the illuminated address, which is a really fine work of art and due to the skill of a sister of the

Why The Germans Want Indemnities From America

(From "Life")
To defray the cost of shells used in killing American Red Cross workers and their property.
To pay for gas bombs dropped on American doctors.
To reimburse the Imperial German Government for loss of property in the Lusitania.
To pay for the crucifixes placed in American Red Cross hospitals by German spies.
To replace in the Imperial Treasury the five hundred million dollars expended on German propaganda in America.

The Advancement of Agricultural Education

The promotion of welfare of the agricultural community as a basis for the industrial and commercial prosperity of the country, was the object aimed at by the Parliament of Canada when, in 1915, it created the office of Minister of Agriculture. The Honorable Martin Burrell, who adopted the measure known as the Agricultural Instruction Act, by means of which at the sum of ten million dollars to be expended over a period of five years to provide for a greater extension of instruction and education for those engaged in farming.
An investigation made prior to the introduction of the measure has revealed the fact that little or no attempt was being made to effect agricultural development. In the first instance, the response to the teaching of colleges of agriculture and experimental farms was too slow to effect an immediate and noteworthy improvement in the commercial status of the farmer.

The second weakness was found in the fact that little or no attempt was being made to effect the country's educational system to the specific requirements of country boys and girls. The Department was to the same whether the child was destined for employment in the country or in the town.

The placing of funds at the disposal of the provinces in the manner indicated has led to a much wider extension of instructional work among the men and women and boys and girls who are living on the land. A marked development of the short course idea has resulted in the extension of courses in agricultural topics and in household science throughout the country. These courses are designed not only for farmers and their wives but for the young men and women who have left school and are about to actively enter upon the affairs of life. In the schools themselves are being made to develop a system of instruction which will utilize the objects associated with life as a medium through which to educate the child. In the higher departments of education, the efficiency of the provincial colleges of agriculture has been promoted, and in several provinces, at least, schools of intermediate grade, as between the public school and the agricultural college, have been established. The object of these special schools is to provide vocational training in agriculture and household science. As time goes on and their usefulness is demonstrated, it is certain that, owing to the financial assistance given by the Act, their influence will be greatly extended. How wide a field is being covered by agricultural instruction work is indicated in a pamphlet just issued by the Dominion Commissioner of Agricultural Instruction, Mr. W. J. Black. It is entitled "Agricultural Instruction in Canada," and a copy may be had on application to the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

"Joan The Woman"

The New York World has the following to say of the remarkable "Joan The Woman" pictures, which are to be shown at the opera house on the night of March 14th—Thursday next.
"The producers have accomplished in 'Joan The Woman' what which many have striven for and few achieved since the day of the first two dollar attraction, a combination of the human interest and spectacular, so intelligently related as to give complete satisfaction and so to fully worthy its classification as a 'high grade' piece of theatrical entertainment offered at corresponding prices." "Joan The Woman" is sweeping in its effects.
"As you sit in your chair, you are almost engulfed by the grim struggle of battle, the thrill of conquest, the urgency of the unjust death dealt out to Joan at France. But through it all, because of the magnificent theatrical production of Gerardine Farrar, you feel inspired yourself. It is because of 'Joan The Woman' as the Haymarket show, that the picture possesses such remarkable balance."

The first half of the picture runs to the spectacular, the second gives you the tragic downfall of Joan. After the thrilling and sensational of the battle switch to a story of personal interest is a difficult task to carry to even the most accomplished actor. Miss Farrar rises to the occasion. Her clarity and in truth saves the picture from being too heavy.
"Joan The Woman" is a triumph for Gertrude Farrar, but equally as much

Mrs. C. F. DUNLOP, Secretary Treasurer, Coleman Branch.

Jimmy, in one of the junior classes in the local school, was being told the meaning of the word "conqueror," and after a lengthy explanation he said "by his might to rule a kingdom, or by the sword to show that he is the master of the teacher. That's what he wrote: 'My six-year-old daughter was out with a doll one night, and I was sent to fetch her.'"

It is a triumph for Cecil De Mille, the producer. Through his long picture he has interpreted the personal and actioning of interest with the fine result of dramatic contrast. The first half of the picture shows the battle of Orleans has been waged with all the ferocity of reality between the French on the one side and the Burgundians and the English on the other. Here Mr. De Mille has spread his work to every nook and corner of the imaginary field covered by the camera. The battle begins with a sweeping charge of the French led by Joan across the picket works of the English up to the very walls of the castle.

A Truck for the Farmer

FARM equipment which will effect a time and labor-saving, and therefore a money-saving, must be carefully considered by every good farmer now-a-days.

The farm wagon, which for years was the most useful of all farm equipment, is now being replaced on the best farms by a sturdy, dependable motor truck. The truck will haul any farm product—fruit, grain, vegetables, stock, fertilizer, or wood—around the farm, or to the town or city many miles distant, in half the time, and at a much lower cost.

The Ford One-Ton truck is a rapid, economical and very serviceable means of transport. One of these on your farm will save you weeks of time in a single season and will enable you to pass through a crisis of labor shortages with less difficulty.

The Ford truck is supplied as a chassis only. This permits you to select any of the many body styles especially designed for the Ford truck and already on the market. Thus you can mount the one which suits your individual requirements.

Success with Pigs

Saskatchewan Dealer, Claims Major Gain
Good Feed for Hogs

The very serious need of increased production of foodstuffs in the United States has been responsible for the recently-revised propaganda for increased hog production. This has led to the very important question of feed for hogs.

Mr. Phillips claims that to give best returns should be fed before sowing to rape, and it goes without saying that this plan requires considerable industry.

At least one local farmer to our knowledge has experienced success with pigs raised on a rape and clover ration.

Two years ago he sowed six acres of rape, and he divided the rape into three lots, one to be sown in the fall, one in the spring, and one in the summer.

He fed his pigs on rape, and the results were very good.

What Is Canada Doing?

The Country Is Ready For Her Role Measures

Resolving to lack scarcity of food in the United States, the Canadian government has determined to do its utmost to help the situation.

The Journal hopes that the government will lose no time in taking steps to see that domestic consumption be increased as much as possible to the end that we can send more wheat overseas.

The food situation has become dreadfully serious in the United States, and the Canadian government will be required by the allies before the harvest of 1918 to take the necessary measures.

The United States is the only country with exportable wheat that is not a food crop.

The time for retooling, reorganizing, and re-equipping the Canadian government is now.
